

PHILOSOPHY (PHIL)

PHIL 1023 Who Do You Think You Are? (H)

Description: Is who you think you are really who you are? Is there more to understanding who we are than we can know with the mind? Are there depths of our personal identity that go beyond our ordinary notions about being "somebody"? Does discovering who and what I am have any impact on the quality of my life? This course explores these issues from both philosophical and spiritual sources, utilizing practices designed to help bring direct, transformative insights into the question of who and what we really are so that we might enjoy a life of peace, love and joy.

PHIL 2313 Asking the Right Questions (A)

Prerequisites: PHIL 1313 or concurrent enrollment in PHIL 1313 or consent of instructor.

Description: We're bombarded with scientific, moral, and political claims that are said to be backed by surveys or studies. Yet the claims frequently contradict each other. We hear that the economy does better when one political party is in charge, and then the next day we hear that it does better when a different party is in power. This course is meant to help students discover when they can trust a claim and the limitations of claims. Students will learn how to understand the logic behind claims and how to separate legitimate claims from those which are illegitimate.
